Equal Housing Opportunity

“We are pledged to the letter and spirit of U.S. policy for the achievement of equal housing opportunity throughout the nation.

We encourage and support an affirmative advertising and marketing program in which there are no barriers to obtaining housing because of race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status, or national origin.”

Website Content and User Ability to Access

The information provided by BilingualRealty.com was gathered from the Houston Association of Realtors Multiple Listing Service and/or the owners or managers of the featured properties.

This data is presented to the user as a free service for informational purposes only.

Content presented on this website does not indicate or imply any listing relationship, special relationship, or business connection with the owners, management, developers, or lessees and BilingualRealty.com or Martin Alcala.

None of the pages on this website constitute an advertisement of property for sale nor do they imply that BilingualRealty.com, Martin Alcala, or any affiliate currently has any listings for sale or lease at any displayed property.

In addition, the information provided by BilingualRealty.com does not suggest or imply that any real estate company currently has any properties listed for sale or lease at any building.

Please contact Martin Alcala for information on current market availability or if you have questions, concerns, or comments about any information provided on BilingualRealty.com.

BilingualRealty.com is not responsible for the accuracy of the content or updating any of these web pages to reflect property or listing changes as they occur.

Buyers should verify all information through property management, listing agent, or homeowner associations before making a decision to purchase.

BilingualRealty.com strives to be compliant with The Americans with Disabilities Act by developing the website content with ADA Compliance in mind.

The project is ongoing. Anyone who requires assistance accessing any of the information provided on this website, please email us at developer@bilingualrealty.com and we'll accommodate you.

We strive hard to provide everyone with an accessible website. Our focus is to ensure everyone will have a good experience while using our website.

If you encounter any difficulty accessing any of our pages, images, videos, and other content, please contact us using the email address above and give us a brief overview of the accessibility problem and the assistive technology you use.

We will work from our end to provide you with the content you need in the format you require. We also urge everyone to send us suggestions and comments about improving our ongoing campaigns to improve the accessibility of BilingualRealty.com.

Have trouble seeing?

The US Social Security Administration listed a few tips to optimize your system and browser to help improve your online experience:

- Use your computer to read web pages out loud
- Use the keyboard to navigate screens
- Increase text size
- Magnify your screen
- Change background and text colors
- Make your mouse pointer more visible (Windows only)

Have problems with your keyboard and/or find using a mouse hard to use? If you find using a keyboard or mouse challenge, please consider using speech recognition software.

These may help you better navigate websites and other online tools. These speech recognition apps help the user to move their focus around a web page or application screen through voice controls.

Do you have hearing problems? If you are deaf or hard of hearing, there are several options that may help you:

- Transcripts: This is audio converted into text. It's a text transcript of audio with spoken words and non-spoken sounds such as sound effects.
- Captioning: A caption is a text transcript for the audio track of a video synchronized with the picture and audio tracks.

Captions are generally rendered visually by being superimposed over the video, which benefits people who are deaf and hard-of-hearing, and anyone who cannot hear the audio.

- Volume controls: Your computer, tablet, or mobile device has volume control features. Each video and audio service has additional volume controls.

Try adjusting both your device's volume controls and your media players' volume controls to optimize your listening experience.

If you believe that any of the content, images, or general information of the site is inaccurate or currently being used without the appropriate permissions, please email developer@bilingualrealty.com and we will strive to correct it.

Specify the specific page, image, or piece of content and why you believe it is being used incorrectly or without the appropriate permissions. Your request will be investigated and followed up on promptly.
